To Our Customers:

The primary purpose of our catalog is to raise funds for our many philanthropic projects, as well as to provide a marketplace for authentic Indian-made jewelry, pottery, carvings, and other handcrafts. Due to the handmade nature of these items, there may be some variations between the item as pictured and the actual item you receive. We also feature many other items such as books, CDs, DVDs, and apparel, which are not Indian-made. All of the T-shirts we feature are printed and dyed here in America, while the rest of the apparel is imported.

F. Sitting Bull: Lakota Warrior and Defender of His People –

Sitting Bull (c. 1831–1890) was one of the greatest Lakota/Sioux warriors and chiefs who ever lived. From Sitting Bull's childhood—killing his first buffalo at age 10—to being named war chief, to leading his people against the U.S. Army, Sitting Bull: Lakota Warrior and Defender of His People brings the story of the great chief to life. Sitting Bull was instrumental in the war against the invasive wasichus (white men) and was at the forefront of the combat, including the Battles of Killdeer Mountain and the Little Bighorn. He and Crazy Horse were the last Lakota/Sioux to surrender their people to the U.S. government and submit to living on a reservation. Celebrated author and illustrator S. D. Nelson intersperses archival images with his own artwork, inspired by the ledger-art drawings of the nineteenth century Lakota. Through the art and riveting story, Nelson conveys how Sitting Bull clung to his belief that the Lakota were a free people meant to live, hunt, and die on the Great Plains. #5374 (Hardcover, 56 pages) $20

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY. . .

One of the primary components of our Emergency Assistance Program is the help we provide to persons with a medical condition or emergency. We continue to work closely with both the Ronald McDonald House and Casa Esperanza in Albuquerque to assist in providing temporary housing for the families of cancer victims. A few years ago, we had an outbreak of pneumonia in the Four Corners area. In that case, we helped pick up the tab for the motel accommodations of families who had loved ones in the area hospitals.

C. Love Bus Coffee Mug – Hop aboard the Love Bus and take a nostalgic ride down Route 66! These generous Stoneware Coffee Mugs are wonderfully functional as well as being striking works of art! Original design by celebrated artist, Mara. Hand-engraved and hand-painted in Mexico.

D. Black Indians: An American Story – Amazing DVD brings to light a forgotten part of America's past — the cultural and racial fusion of Native and African Americans. Narrated by actor James Earl Jones (himself a Black Indian), this intriguing documentary explores in depth what brought these two groups together, what drove them apart, and the challenges that they face today. Family memories and historical highlights reveal the indelible mark of this unique ancestry, and its continuing influence throughout the generations. "Simply stated, this is among the most powerful films I have viewed." — Native Peoples #6980 (60 min.) $32

B. Great Indian Leaders & Nations – This double-program DVD brings together two award-winning presentations! The first presentation focuses on four legendary Indian Leaders, etching vivid portraits of Crazy Horse, Chief Joseph, Geronimo, and Quana Parker — “Last chief of the Comanche.” This is the poignant and tragic story of the end of the American Indians’ way of life and freedom. The second presentation tells the moving story of six mighty Indian Nations: the Iroquois, the Seminoles of Florida; the Shawnee, the Navajo; the Cheyenne, and the Lakota Sioux. Majestic landscapes, dramatic reenactments, historical photographs and authentic music combine to preserve the richness of these Native American histories and cultures. #6941 (110 Minutes) $22

LOVING CARE

In 1987, the Southwest Indian Foundation provided a substantial grant to help build a nursing home facility here in Gallup that would serve the elderly Navajo population. This wonderful home has 42 beds and is conducted by the Little Sisters of the Poor. The Little Sisters of the Poor was founded in France in 1839 by St. Jeanne Jugan. Today, the Order has several hundred nursing homes worldwide. These dedicated Sisters create a cheerful atmosphere of love and care and dignity — a true home for these aging men and women.

A CHILD'S BEST FRIEND

All children deserve a good education. San Carlos, Globe, Lumberton, Farmington, San Fidel, Laguna, Crownpoint — these are just some of the remote communities in Arizona and New Mexico where our schools can be found. For over 30 years, we have made education a top priority. We have 15 mission schools in and around the local reservations that we support both through school grants and individual tuition assistance. In a depressed and isolated desert region, a sound education is a child's best friend.

E. How Jackrabbit Got His Very Long Ears

– Why does Tortoise move so slowly? Why does Bobcat have such a short tail? And why does Roadrunner fly so close to the ground and not high in the sky like the Eagle? Because the Great Spirit made them special so that they could survive in the desert. How Jackrabbit Got His Very Long Ears is a sensitive, original tale that teaches children that each of God's creatures is special in their own way.

A. The Trail Of Tears – This deeply moving, high-definition feature DVD documents the forced removal in 1838 of the Cherokee Nation from the southeastern United States to Oklahoma. The Jacksonian policy of removal led to a brutal, cross-country trek in which nearly a quarter of the tribal citizens died from hunger, exposure, disease and sheer exhaustion. Wes Studi, the well-known Cherokee actor (Last of the Mohicans), presents the documentary film, speaking on camera in his native tongue (with subtitles). Noted actor James Earl Jones, who is of blended African and Cherokee heritage provides the narration. They are supported by the celebrity voices of actor James Garner, singer Crystal Gayle, actor John Buttram and former Virginia Gov. Douglas Wilder reading original diary excerpts, while a host of historical experts from major universities provide commentary. #5288 (115 Minutes) $35

COMBINATION STOVES

When most people think of the Southwest, they conjure up images of palm trees and swimming pools. But here in the high desert where the Navajo Nation is located, elevations are higher than Denver and at night the temperatures can plunge well below freezing. That’s why we created our Stove Program, whereby we install safe, efficient Combination Wood/Coal Stoves for needy individuals and families. Our Navajo crew works year-round installing these combination stoves, ensuring that no one is left out in the cold.

C. Creatures of the Desert World – The common perception of the desert is one of lifeless desolation. But in reality, the desert is teeming with life. This enchanting pop-up book from National Geographic is based on the famous Sonoran Desert and features a huge cast of characters including roadrunners, badgers, owls, rattlesnakes, tarantulas, jack-rabbits, scorpions, hawks, pack rats, skunks, mountain lions, and gila monsters. Children will be fascinated by this vibrant pop-up book with interactive pull tabs and hidden critters! #5245 (Hardcover) $19

D. Inside Canyon de Chelly – Two of today’s greatest flutists, Paul Horn and R. Carlos Nakai, join for a musical exploration through the monumental spaces inside Canyon de Chelly in the heart of the land of the Navajo. Inspired by the moment, by the echoes of their flutes reverberating against naked rock, by the mingling of melody with unfettered wind and water and accompanied by the call of ravens and the distant rumble of thunder, Horn and Nakai create improvisations that are haunting impressions of this timeless place. #7262 CD $17

LEAVE A LASTING LEGACY

A last will or bequest is a beautiful way to leave a lasting legacy for your Native American brothers and sisters here in the desert Southwest. Each year, the Southwest Indian Foundation is blessed with wills and bequests from generous individuals like you that allow us to continue our critical work. From education and home renovation to alcohol rehabilitation and shelters for women and children — wills and bequests are a critical fuel for our many self-help initiatives.

To receive more information on leaving the Foundation in your will, write us at: Southwest Indian Foundation, Post Office Box 307, Gallup, NM, 87305.

D. The Star People – Sister Girl and her brother Young Wolf wander away from their village and soon find themselves far out in the surrounding prairie. They lie down in the grass and watch the clouds passing above billow to form an eagle, horses, and other creatures. Suddenly, animals begin to race past the children on the ground – followed by a wall of fire! Fleeing along with the frightened beasts, Sister Girl and Young Wolf save themselves by tumbling into a shallow stream. The fire leaves behind ash and a barren, forbidding landscape. The children realize that they are hopelessly lost. Night is coming, how will they get home to their parents? And why are the evening stars dancing so? Drawing upon traditional Lakota art, S. D. Nelson's illustrations bring to life a memorable new legend about the Star People.

C. Navajos Wear Nikes:

A Reservation Life – When Jim Kristofic's family moved across the country to Ganado, Arizona, his life changed forever. Ganado was a "Rez-town" on a reservation the size of West Virginia. For Jim's mother, living among the Navajo was a childhood dream come true. For Jim — who'd just barely learned to tie his own shoelaces — it was the end of the world and the beginning of something new and unforgettable. With compelling honesty, Navajos Wear Nikes tracks a modern life on the Navajo Reservation, from childhood to manhood. Kristofic recounts the painful, fascinating history of Ganado, Arizona, and tells the story of a boy trying to understand the truth of a people, and the truth about himself.

THE NEXT GENERATION

For nearly three decades, the National Indian Youth Leadership Association has been active on our area reservations, providing leadership programs for young Native Americans. SWIF has worked closely with NIYLA in sponsoring camps, leadership workshops, CPR training, and search and rescue orientation. The philosophy of this program is to instill skills and confidence in our youth and teach them to become community servants. This is a rich and vital program especially in poor reservation communities where little in the way of positive outlets exist for young men and women.

I. Secrets of Native American Herbal Remedies – For centuries, Native American healers have used the gifts of nature to bestow health and healing on those in need. Now, author Anthony Cichoke brings this knowledge to you — exploring more than 100 American herbs, including such newly popular ones as echinacea, ginkgo biloba, ginseng, and goldenseal. In an accessible yet authoritative style, this book provides an overview of the herbs and details their healthful constituents, forms in which they can be purchased, and ways to prepare them. Part Two recommends healing formulas for common conditions, including recipes for therapeutic teas, ointments, washes, gargles, and more. An invaluable resource! #5351 (Softcover, 274 pages) $20

HANDMADE TREASURES

It's no secret that Native Americans are incredibly gifted artistically. But because of geographical isolation, it's often a problem to find a viable market to showcase their handcrafted goods. So in 1990, we launched the Indian Craft Catalog that you are holding in your hands. In addition to providing a national market for local Indian craftsmen, the profits from this catalog go directly back to the Native Americans themselves in the form of the many philanthropic programs that the SWIF sponsors and supports. As we like to say: "Made in America – By the First Americans."

E. The Mystery of Chaco Canyon DVD – Located in New Mexico, Chaco Canyon is one of the most extensive prehistoric ruins in America. For years archaeologists have assumed that Chaco was primarily an ancient trading center. Now, this nationally broadcast film (narrated by Robert Redford and first aired on PBS,) shows that Chaco was instead a complex ceremonial center, harmonized by extraordinary astronomical alignments of buildings and roads, and elegant light and shadow markings. Aerial and time lapse footage, computer modeling, and interviews with scholars show how the Chacoan culture oriented and located its major buildings in relation to the sun and moon. FRANCISCAN SPIRIT

Our assistance is limited to Native Americans, with priority given to the elderly, handicapped, and families with dependent children. We work primarily with the Navajo, but we also assist the various pueblo tribes in the area as well. Although we are a Catholic organization founded by a Franciscan priest, we are not a propagating arm of the Catholic Church. We assist all individuals that fall within our financial guidelines. We do not discriminate because of religious affiliation. Our charter is based on the "works of mercy." Because there is hunger, because there is cold, because there is lack of shelter and clothing, because there is pain and misery — these are the reasons we are here. We help because there is a need.

CHIEF MANUELITO

Legendary Navajo Chief Manuelito is famous for reminding his people that “Education is the ladder.” Since we first opened our doors in 1968, the majority of our funding has gone toward education, both in the form of block grants and individual tuition assistance. From the Jicarilla Apache Reservation in northern New Mexico to the White Mountain Apache Reservation east of Phoenix, we provide tuition assistance to deserving Indian children attending private mission schools.

Navajo Long Hair Kachinas – The Long Hair Kachina is one of the most prominent of all Kachinas — it is danced from the Rio Grande to the Hopi Mesas. Its purpose is to bring the precious gift of rain to the life-sustaining crops. These colorful Long Hair Kachinas are Navajo-crafted from Cottonwood, then hand-painted and wood-burned.

E. Lamy Of Santa Fe – The Southwest Indian Foundation is pleased to announce the reprinting of a classic work of the American Southwest: Lamy of Santa Fe. Originally published in 1975, this Pulitzer Prize winning biography chronicles the life of Archbishop Jean Baptiste Lamy (1814-1888), New Mexico's first resident bishop and the most influential, reform-minded Catholic official in the region during the late 1800s. Lamy's accomplishments, including the endowing of hospitals, orphanages, and English-language schools and colleges, formed the foundation of modern-day Santa Fe and often brought him into conflict with corrupt local priests. His life story, also the subject of Willa Cather's Death Comes for the Archbishop, describes a pivotal period in the American Southwest, as Spanish and Mexican rule gave way to much greater influence from the U.S. and Europe. Historian and consummate stylist Paul Horgan has given us a chronicle filled with hardy, often extraordinary adventure, sustained by Lamy's magnificent strength of character. Handsome, hardcover edition with leatherette cover.

NAVAJO CODE TALKERS

It was one of the best kept secrets of World War II. For over 23 years, their special mission retained a “top secret” classification. They are the Navajo Code Talkers. The Navajo made an invaluable contribution to the War through the development of the Navajo language as a secret code that proved indecipherable to the enemy. Major Howard M. Connor, communications officer for the Fifth Marine Division commented, “Without the Navajos, the Marines would never have taken Iwo Jima.” We salute their remarkable achievement!

D. Buffalo Bird Girl – This fascinating picture book biography tells the childhood story of Buffalo Bird Woman, a Hidatsa Indian born around 1839. Through her true story, readers will learn what it was like to be part of this Native American community that lived along the Missouri River in the Dakotas, a society that depended more on agriculture for food and survival than on hunting. Children will relate to Buffalo Bird Girl's routine of chores and playing with friends, and they will also be captivated by her lifestyle and the dangers that came with it. Using as a resource the works of Gilbert L. Wilson, who met Buffalo Bird Woman and transcribed her life's story in the early 20th century, award-winning author-illustrator S. D. Nelson has captured the spirit of Buffalo Bird Girl and her lost way of life. The book includes a historical timeline. #5371 (Hardcover, 50 pages) $20

A HAND UP NOT A HANDOUT

Over the past thirty years, the Southwest Indian Foundation has seen considerable growth. But we have always strived to maintain the original intent of our Franciscan founder. First, to recognize the great human potential of each individual; and second, to offer those in need a hand up — not a handout. The SWIF philosophy is strongly opposed to the “handout” approach. To our way of thinking, a mere handout destroys a person’s dignity and self-initiative. We believe that true charity must emphasize self-help in order to restore pride and independence. Only in this way can we truly build a better America for the First Americans.

D. Gift Horse – An action-packed coming-of-age story, Gift Horse is a wonderfully evocative introduction to 19th-century Native American life on the Great Plains. When his father gives him a gift horse, marking the beginning of his journey to manhood, Flying Cloud and the horse, Storm, spend their days hunting and roughhousing with the other boys and their horses. But when an enemy raiding party steals his beloved Storm, Flying Cloud faces the ultimate rite of passage. He must join the rescue party and earn the right to wear the shirt of a warrior. Bold, colorful artwork inspired by the style of the early Plains Indians illustrates the day-to-day life of the Lakota and tells the story of a boy accepting the challenges of manhood. An author's note gives a brief history of the Lakota and explains the traditions discussed in the story. #5370 (Hardcover, 36 pages) $18

SAFE HAVEN

For over three decades, the Southwest Indian Foundation has worked closely with the local Battered Families shelters. Sadly, domestic violence is a fact of life. Our work with Battered Families has its focus on relocating those who have been traumatized by domestic violence. This often involves expenses in the areas of rent assistance, utilities, and transportation. For mothers and children, a secure haven from a threatening situation is the most important gift of all.

D. Yanabah Navajo Teas – “As a young girl growing up on the Navajo Reservation, I remember helping my grandmother gather and dry the Navajo Tea plant. This herbal tea was then shared and enjoyed by all who stopped by her home.” This is Yellow Bird talking about her grandmother, Yanabah, who is the inspiration for the Yanabah Tea Company. For centuries the Navajos, along with other Native tribes, have brewed a hot drink from the plant, Thelesperma Megapotamicum or Greenthread, as it is more commonly known. Today, Yellow Bird is proud to bring you these three tasty, soothing Teas in honor of her Grandmother.

CANCER OUTREACH

Since 1987, Casa Esperanza in Albuquerque has been serving the families of cancer victims (in addition to other severe medical cases) by providing a low cost home away from home. At the Southwest Indian Foundation, we work closely with Casa Esperanza, picking up the tab for Indian families who must make the long trip into Albuquerque while a loved one is hospitalized. This is a dire situation for any family to endure. The more we can do to ease that burden, through transportation and lodging assistance, the better that family will be able to cope.

TOHATCHI FIGHTING BACK

One of the critical challenges facing poor and isolated reservation areas is providing healthy activities for young people. The Tohatchi Fighting Back Program in Tohatchi, New Mexico provides children and adolescents with several recreational and community service-oriented projects to keep them engaged and challenged. Everything from cleaning and maintaining the senior citizens center, to delivering meals on wheels, to playing summer baseball gives these kids a fighting chance in a high risk environment. SWIF is proud to be the major sponsor of this program.

A. Hiawatha and the Peacemaker – Born of Mohawk and Cayuga descent, musical icon Robbie Robertson learned the story of Hiawatha and his spiritual guide, the Peacemaker, as part of the Iroquois oral tradition. Now he shares the same gift of storytelling with a new generation. Hiawatha was a strong and articulate Mohawk who was chosen to translate the Peacemaker’s message of unity for the five warring Iroquois nations during the 14th century. This message not only succeeded in uniting the tribes but also forever changed how the Iroquois governed themselves—a blueprint for democracy that would later inspire the authors of the U.S. Constitution. Caldecott Honor–winning illustrator David Shannon brings the journey of Hiawatha and the Peacemaker to life with arresting oil paintings. Together, Robertson and Shannon have crafted a new children’s classic that will both educate and inspire readers of all ages. Includes a CD featuring a new, original song written and performed by Robbie Robertson. #5373 (Hardcover, 48 pp.) $20

D. Native American Supplements – For generations, the Native Americans have lived close to the land. Because the Native Americans often lived in harsh conditions cut off from direct physician care they needed to rely on the gifts provided by Mother Earth. They understand better than most about the abundant riches that flourish throughout the deserts, valleys and forests. Now that ancient wisdom is being put to use in modern day supplements to promote well-being. Important: Never start a supplement program without first consulting your physician. Supplements are not intended to diagnose, prevent, cure or treat any disease. Any claims or statements contained therein have not been verified or evaluated by the Food and Drug Administration and are the responsibility of the both the user and manufacturer.

Heart Health Drops – The flower, stem and fruit from mistletoe have been known to help promote a healthy heart. Native Americans have been using a blend of the mistletoe plant to reduce blood pressure and thereby decrease the risk of a heart episode. #SP103 (2 oz.) $19

Pain Relief – The licorice plant grows in abundance all throughout the Southwest. It's the licorice root that Native American healers brewed to help their tribesmen with fever, diarrhea and chest coughs. It was also discovered to provide pain relief. For this new compound, the licorice root is blended together with other natural herbs, such as ginger, wild lettuce, white willow bark and devil claw root, to form an amazing capsule to promote well-being. #SP100 (60 capsules) $18

Pain Relief Gel – Native American history tells us that the Catawba Indians were among the first to use the arnica root to treat back pain. The root of this variety of sunflower was found to be among the most potent in reducing muscle and joint pain. This new compound includes arnica along with other wonder plants like willow bark, aloe vera and white nettle. #SP101 (4 oz) $19

Digestion – Some Native American tribes refer to alfalfa as "Father of plants." It has been shown to promote digestion and keep your colon clean. This powerhouse supplement is also packed with apple fiber, fennel seed, senn leaf, oat bran, sagra bark and buckhorn root. #SP106 (60 capsules) $16

Weight Loss – Garcinia cambogia has been utilized for hundreds of years in Ayurvedic medicine, which is the type of healing that is native to India. Modern scientists have since found it is chock full of hydroxycitric acid which stop the production of citrate lyase. This is the enzyme that converts extra carbs into fat. #SP102 (60 capsules) $18

BRINGING IT HOME

For more than thirty years, the Southwest Indian Foundation has employed a Navajo work crew to conduct home renovations and weatherization for needy Indian families in the area. In addition to supplying the necessary labor, we also provide the raw materials, though we stipulate that the homeowners make an “in kind” contribution to the project as well. Moreover, we often serve as a catalyst with other non-profit organizations and Navajo Tribal entities to address “special needs” situations.

F. Horse, Follow Closely: Native American Horsemanship – Horse and rider are one. There is a relationship of trust, harmony, and respect born of a way of life that is all but lost. One man puts it within our grasp again. In this magnificent book, GawaNi Pony Boy illustrates the traditional training methods — methods that are steeped in common sense and the age-old wisdom of his ancestors, America's first great horsemen. The stunning full-color photographs by renowned European photographer Gabrielle Boisselle and the simple eloquence of the text takes us back to the days when horse training was not merely about getting results but about creating a bond for life. An inspiration for riders and a feast for horse and Native American culture enthusiasts, Horse, Follow Closely: Native American Horsemanship forges a relationship with readers that few books can ever hope to achieve. #5287 (Softcover, 136 pp., over 80 color photos) $29

Sleeping Beauty Turquoise Jewelry

One of the most sought after semi-precious stones, Sleeping Beauty Turquoise is revered for its pure sky-blue color. The Navajo were among the first to mine the stone, using hot coals to heat the boulders and then splashing them with cold water. The sudden temperature change would cause the boulders to fracture, exposing the prized turquoise beneath. In our jewelry pictured here, we have coupled the gorgeous sky-blue stone (mined in nearby Globe, Arizona) with classic Sterling Silver Beads.

SPECIAL HOUSING

For nearly twenty years, the Air Force Academy and the Southwest Indian Foundation have been building hogan-style houses in Colorado Springs and transporting them to families on the Navajo Reservation — families who would otherwise have no access to a home without outside assistance. A few years ago, St. Michaels School for Special Education in Arizona put in a request for two of these homes that would serve as “independent living” quarters for their graduates. These specially challenged children have had difficult and often painful lives. St. Michaels has been their home. They are not equipped to go out into the real world on their own. However, they are able to look after themselves with some supervision. These custom-designed hogans will be placed at the school and used by the graduates of St. Michaels.
